Chang Wong Industrial is a company specialized in foam manufacture. Through an experimental approach, the team has combined mineral and recycled windshield(PVB) with rubber to developed a rubber based material that is durable, fast dry and grippy.

Stone mat was created in response to many high performing grippy material on the market which often contain non-eco friendly or even harmful substances such as DMF. The making of Stone mat uses mostly of natural and recycled material and is carefully engineered to fit the idealization of a perfect yoga mat.

The inspiration came from fast cooling shirts which add certain mineral to have better thermal balancing ability. The team experimented with this novel idea and unexpectedly yield a great result. After many more experiments, the perfect proportion was found.
